

At Fifth Business, we believe people are the key to success. We create innovative people-shaped solutions that engage your audience and deliver success.

Since inception, we have been delivering inspiring solutions for communications, learning and change objectives around the globe.

Create

Our multi-disciplined creative team supports our communications and learning experts in developing engaging and innovative solutions. Our team is all encompassing and can deliver anything from beautiful printed materials to innovative online solutions using the latest technologies. Just a few of our creative solutions include:

- Internal and external web design & development
- Unlimited types of printed materials
- Tradeshow graphics and marketing
- SharePoint design and development
- Multimedia presentations
- Video production
- 2D/3D animation
- Content management systems

Our designers establish understanding of your brands and IT environments to ensure that all products align with your organization's branding and are fully compliant with your technology.

Communicate

Our consultants understand people. They are experts in the delivery of communications and change initiatives that are aimed at increasing employee engagement, augmenting productivity, and instilling commitment and loyalty to the brand. They are equipped to utilize the right channel at the right time to achieve measurable results. Our communications services include:

- Leadership communications and coaching
- Change communications
- Project management
- Internal communications auditing
- Communications strategy, planning and deployment
- Stakeholder/situational analysis
- Business writing
- Creative consultancy
- Innovative communication programs

Change

Change is not going away. The need for change is always increasing and managing change is necessary for any organization's success. Whether your change requires training, communications or simply a well designed plan to guide you along the way, the Fifth Business can help. Just a few of these tools include:

- e-Learning
- Change management planning
- Diversity & inclusion
- Productivity coaching
- Classroom training
- Workshops
- One-on-one training
- Virtual team working
- Training materials

At Fifth Business, we believe people are the key to success. We create innovative people-shaped solutions that engage your audience and deliver success.

Since inception, we have been delivering inspiring solutions for communications, learning and change objectives around the globe.

Communicate

Our consultants understand people. They are experts in the delivery of communications and change initiatives that are aimed at increasing employee engagement, augmenting productivity, and instilling commitment and loyalty to the brand. They are equipped to utilize the right channel at the right time to achieve measurable results. Our communications services include:

- Leadership communications and coaching
- Change communications
- Communications strategy, planning and deployment
- Project management
- Internal communications auditing
- Stakeholder/situational analysis
- Business writing
- Creative consultancy
- Innovative communication programs

Create

Our multi-disciplined creative team supports our communications and learning experts in developing engaging and innovative solutions. Our team is all encompassing and can deliver anything from beautiful printed materials to innovative online solutions using the latest technologies. Just a few of our creative solutions include:

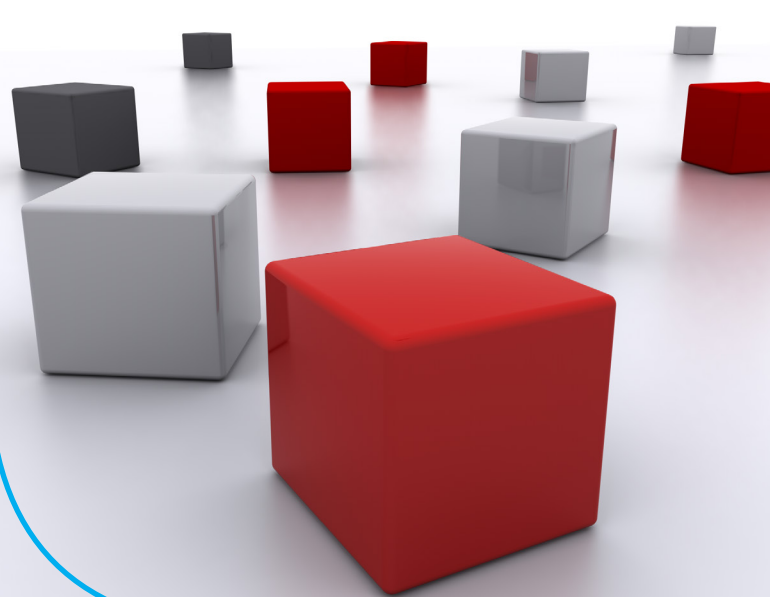

- Internal and external web design & development
- Unlimited types of printed materials
- Tradeshow graphics and marketing
- SharePoint design and development
- Multimedia presentations
- Video production
- 2D/3D animation
- Content management systems

Our designers establish understanding of your brands and IT environments to ensure that all products align with your organization's branding and are fully compliant with your technology.

Change

Change is not going away. The need for change is always increasing and managing change is necessary for any organization's success. Whether your change requires training, communications or simply a well designed plan to guide you along the way, the Fifth Business can help. Just a few of these tools include:

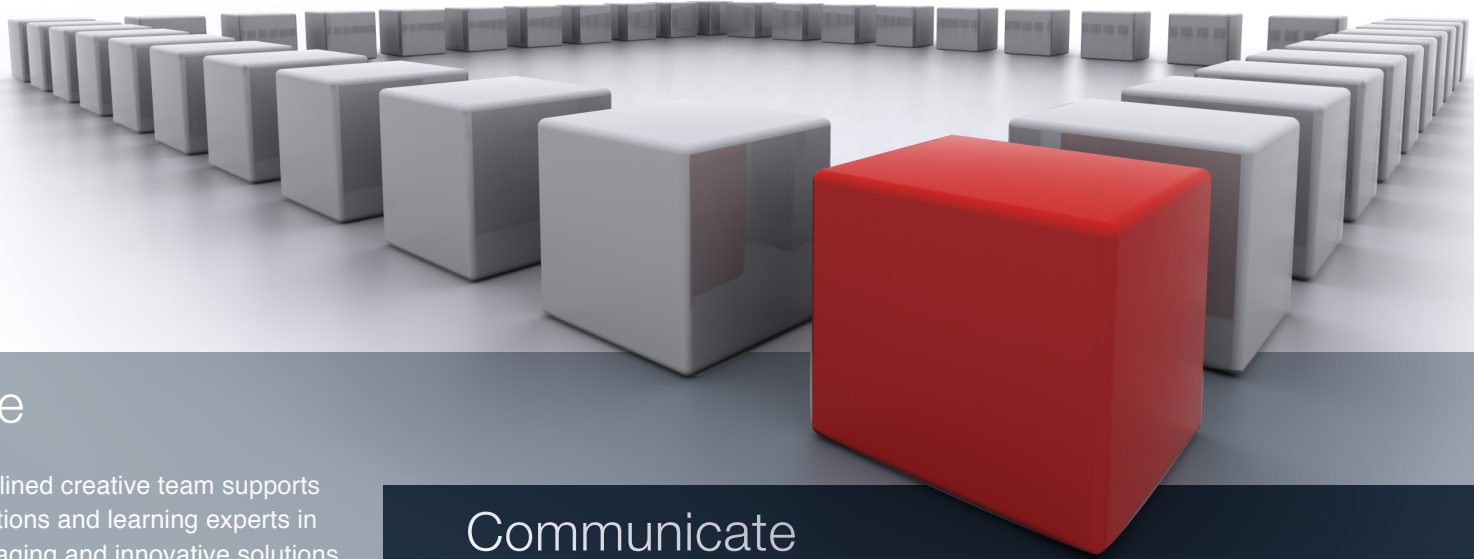

- e-Learning
- Change management planning
- Diversity & inclusion
- Productivity coaching
- Classroom training
- Workshops
- One-on-one training
- Virtual team working
- Training materials

At Fifth Business, we believe people are the key to success. We create innovative people-shaped solutions that engage your audience and deliver success.

Since inception, we have been delivering inspiring solutions for communications, learning and change objectives around the globe.

Create

Our multi-disciplined creative team supports our communications and learning experts in developing engaging and innovative solutions. Our team is all encompassing and can deliver anything from beautiful printed materials to innovative online solutions using the latest technologies. Just a few of our creative solutions include:

- Internal and external web design & development
- Unlimited types of printed materials
- Tradeshow graphics and marketing
- SharePoint design and development
- Multimedia presentations
- Video production
- 2D/3D animation
- Content management systems

Our designers establish understanding of your brands and IT environments to ensure that all products align with your organization's branding and are fully compliant with your technology.

Communicate

Our consultants understand people. They are experts in the delivery of communications and change initiatives that are aimed at increasing employee engagement, augmenting productivity, and instilling commitment and loyalty to the brand. They are equipped to utilize the right channel at the right time to achieve measurable results. Our communications services include:

- Leadership communications and coaching
- Change communications
- Project management
- Internal communications auditing
- Communications strategy, planning and deployment
- Stakeholder/situational analysis
- Business writing
- Creative consultancy
- Innovative communication programs

Change

Change is not going away. The need for change is always increasing and managing change is necessary for any organization's success. Whether your change requires training, communications or simply a well designed plan to guide you along the way, the Fifth Business can help. Just a few of these tools include:

- e-Learning
- Change management planning
- Diversity & inclusion
- Productivity coaching
- Classroom training
- Workshops
- One-on-one training
- Virtual team working
- Training materials

Our Locations

The Fifth Business has staff consultancy professionals and designers on the ground in Aberdeen, London, The Hague and Houston. Because we have some room and because it's probably relevant, something about why our locations are important should go here in this space for copy.

Our Clients

Our global client base includes some of the world's largest and most successful companies. The testament to our professionalism is measured by our high customer satisfaction record. Some of our clients include:

create. communicate. change.

www.fifthbusiness.com

